Ultrasound School of North American Rheumatologists a 501c3 non-profit organization.

USSONAR is a 501c3 non-profit organization whose objective is to train physicians and allied health professionals in ultrasonography for the management of rheumatic diseases.

USSONAR is known for its trademark Fundamentals of Musculoskeletal Ultrasound Course which since 2007 has trained over 600 adult and pediatric fellows, practicing rheumatologists and mid-level providers. The eight-month course in basic musculoskeletal ultrasound uses a hybrid strategy by provision of educational materials and asynchronous reviews of submitted scans through an interactive educational website and a live in-person 3-day workshop.

In 2017, USSONAR has been holding advanced courses covering topics pertinent to the evaluation of rheumatic diseases, such as the vasculitides, lupus, rheumatoid arthritis, spondyloarthropathies, sjogren's syndrome, autoimmune interstitial lung disease, inflammatory myositis, crystalline arthropathies, and the use of relevant procedures such as ultrasound guided arthrocentesis and synovial biopsies.

With more than 700 members, USSONAR has a diverse network of clinicians and researchers involved in academia and private practice, many of whom are known and emerging key opinion leaders in various disease states including rheumatoid arthritis, spondyloarthropathies, crystalline diseases, lupus, sjogren's syndrome, osteoarthritis, inflammatory myositis, autoimmune interstitial lung disease and vasculitis. Many participate in the development of local and international standards of patient care, research, and medical education. Many hold leadership positions in regional and international societies, academic divisions, and healthcare administration.

We are administered through external support from Suwannee River Area Health Education Centers (SRAHEC). Your support will make it possible for USSONAR to continue training the next generation of rheumatologists, provide state of the art clinical care for patients, and advance the science of rheumatic diseases. Thank you for considering a sponsorship and supporting USSONAR's mission of advancing ultrasonography in the management of rheumatic disorders.

USSONAR is requesting in-kind support of preferably 6 ultrasound machines for February Fundamentals Midyear Course in Tampa, FL and preferably 6 machines for the 2024 Multi-Track Ultrasound in Rheumatology Conference.
